Noise complaint leads to meth lab in Clay City

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A loud noise complaint led police to a trailer where meth was being made. That trailer sat in a trailer park surrounded by other homes and near a major road in Clay City. Now Houston Paul Johnson is facing several drug charges.

Officers answered the call at Potts Trailer Park just off 11th Street also known as Hardwick's Creek Road. When they arrived just after 5:30 a.m. last Thursday morning they found four men sitting in a car outside of a trailer. Powell County Deputy Billy Rice, Deputy Marty Tipton and Stanton Police Lt. Arthur Lacy recognized one of the men in the car as Johnson. He had warrants on him so they attempted to get him out of the car.

But the doors were locked and according to the police report, Rice witnessed Johnson holding a silver cylinder with yellow pills in it, along with a plastic baggie and an unknown substance in that. Johnson allegedly put the baggie in his mouth and tried to conceal the pills.

The door was finally opened and Johnson was removed from the car. Officers found a yellow pill near where his feet were located. The markings on the pill indicate that it was an oxycodone. The cylinder was found on the other side, in the floor board.

Johnson allegedly made a statement about someone needed to "dispose of" what was in the black bag inside the trailer. Officers stated they saw two one step meth labs and an HCL precursor in plain view when they looked in the trailer's windows.

Police said the black bag contained numerous items that are consistent with precursors used to manufacture methamphetamines. Police sealed off the trailer, which the police report said that Johnson was purchasing.

State police were called in and a meth cleanup crew cleared the scene of the items. According to one officer, hydrochloric gas was inside the home. That gas is highly explosive, officers indicated. A blast from that would have destroyed the home, possibly a nearby structure and shot debris directly onto 11th Street, which is a busy road in Powell County.

Johnson, 31, of Clay City, was charged with possession of a controlled substance first degree, tampering with physical evidence, manufacturing methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia and unlawful possession of a meth precursor. He was lodged in the Powell County Detention Center.

Officers are still investigating and more charges could be pending.

DUI murder case waits for DNA

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The case against a Mount Sterling man accused of driving while intoxicated and killing a Clay City woman in February seems to be at a standstill for now. According to the defense, they are still waiting on DNA results.

That was what Lisa Whisman, the public defender appointed to represent Johnny D. Moore, told the Powell Circuit Court last Wednesday. Moore has been charged with murder and DUI after police say he struck and killed Martha Vivian on Black Creek Road on Feb. 28.

Vivian had apparently missed her driveway and attempted to turn into another driveway to turn around. However, her car got stuck in a ditch. As Vivian exited her car and came around it, police and a witness say that Moore struck Vivian. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Witnesses say that Moore was the only person they saw around the truck after he ran off the road, following the fatal accident. However, Moore told officers that night that someone else was driving.

Moore had told authorities that night that his cousin, Joseph Young, was driving. But police found him at his home in Bowen. Moore then allegedly told officers that his brother was driving, but he was found to be in Irvine.

Chase leads to DUI arrest

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A call about a reckless driver led to a car chase on the Mountain Parkway last Wednesday evening. The result was a DUI arrest and a Mount Sterling man being tazed when he tried to flee from police on foot. Now Beau Ayers is facing several charges.

The bizarre event began at 7:48 p.m. when Powell County dispatchers received a call from a vehicle that was following a 2003 white Chevrolet panel type van eastbound on the Parkway. The caller left the Parkway at the Stanton exit and Stanton Police Officer Phillip Frazier caught up with the van at the 23 mile marker.

"It was one of the worst I've seen and I've been doing this for years," Frazier said. "He was all over the roads from the median to the guardrail. It was bad."

Frazier observed Ayers swerving from the right hand lane near the median back over to the guardrail. Frazier turned on his lights and siren and Ayers pulled over near the 26 mile marker. But instead of coming to a complete stop, Ayers took off and police began the pursuit. Powell County Deputy Billy Rice joined in to assist.

Officers stated they reached speeds of over 100 miles per hour and that Ayers nearly struck three vehicles he passed. His swerving was even worse during the pursuit. Ayers finally did pull over at the 33 mile marker near Slade. However, after pulling over Ayers tried to take off. He was tazed by Rice and the foot pursuit ended rather abruptly.

Frazier's arrest report stated that Ayers "smelled of an intoxicating beverage, had blood shot eyes, slurred speech and was unsteady on his feet." Frazier stated he found "open containers of Papst Blue Ribbon beer" inside the van. The van was impounded.

Ayers was charged with speeding 26 miles per hour or more over the speed limit, no registration plates, fleeing or evading police, DUI and possession of an open beverage container in a motor vehicle. He was lodged at the Powell County Detention Center.

Richardson gets new attorney

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A woman waiting to face abuse and drug charges will have to wait a little while longer. Ruby Richardson and her attorney, Stephen Wides, have parted ways.

Richardson has been accused of trafficking in controlled substances, but her more notable indictment deals with the alleged abuse of a woman she was supposed to be taking care of.

Wides made the motion to withdraw as Richardson's attorney and it was heard last Wednesday in Powell Circuit Court. Wides told the court that the two could no longer work together on the case and that Richardson had a "lack of trust" for him.

Richardson fired back that she had been in jail for 248 days and still had only received a small portion of the discovery evidence against her from her attorney. She also claimed that she had asked her attorney to serve some 60 witnesses on her behalf, but none of them had been served yet.

Ruby Richardson hands Powell Circuit Judge Frank Fletcher a statements she says her accuser made exonerating her. She is set for a trial for abusing a woman she was supposed to be taking care of in January.

"I asked him to get my medical records and show that I need surgery and he didn't get them," Richardson told the court. "I'm just getting sicker."

Powell Circuit Judge Frank Fletcher advised both parties that he would allow Wides to withdraw from the case and he appointed Lisa Whisman from the Department of Public Advocacy to represent Richardson.

As Richardson continued to press about her medical issues, Fletcher advised that there was a bigger picture to look at. "The primary issue is not medical," he said, "It is guilt or innocence."

Richardson made headlines when she was indicted on Feb. 6 for abuse or neglect of an adult when "she knowingly inflicted injury, intimidation or punishment that resulted in physical or mental inju-

Clay City tables property tax issue

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The work on blacktopping some streets in Clay City may begin soon, while the weather holds out. But the property tax question is on hold until the city council can check into the mater. At least that was what was decided at the Clay City Council meeting last week.

The Bluegrass Area Development District advised the city that due to a loss of almost $600,000 in taxable properties and revenue, that the city should raise the property tax rate from 8.9 cents per $100 of assessed value to 9.1 cents. But city attorney Scott Graham wants to look at the situation closer.

"Most of those properties they say we have lost come from foreclosures and businesses shutting down. Appraisals are lower, so we lose some," he told the council. "But next year we could get that $600,000 back. It appears that the market is getting better. I'd hate to raise a tax and the situation gets better. Because it seems that when things get better the tax rate stays, it doesn't lower."

Several council members agreed with that analogy. City clerk Stacey Curtis advised that the increase would only generate about $2,000. It would keep the revenue numbers the same.

"I'm already catching the devil over the sewer rates," Councilman Bobby Carmichael said. "Some people act like a $5 increase is a million dollars." The rate for the sewer went up after the new regional sewer plant took over all operations in the county. If a customer uses 2,000 gallons of water, the sewer part of the bill raises about $5, but if more than the minimum is used; the rate is higher based on usage.

"The ones really taking the heat are the ones behind the glass," Mayor Jimmy Caudill said. He was referring to the clerks who have to collect the bills.

The council decided to pass on the increase and look into the situation. Several members said they believed that the $2,000 could possibly be made up by looking at the budget closer.

A motion was made by Councilman Kenny Rice to table the issue and seconded by Councilman Al Campbell. The vote was unanimous. The council will look at the issue again in their November meeting.

The council also voted to award the blacktopping bid for city streets to Goodwin & Sons Paving. They will provide the asphalt, blacktopping and labor for $23,125.

"They have 27 or 28 places to work on. Some are like two foot by four foot patches and others can be like 103 feet by 16 feet overlays," Caudill told the council. "We hope we can get it down soon. But the blacktop plants close down soon. We may have to do a portion now and the rest in the spring."

The council voted unanimously to approve the contract.

The council also voted to rescind a vote in a special meeting earlier in the month to reopen the bidding process for a new police cruiser. They had decided last month to go with a state contract and get the car from Freedom Dodge in Lexington. However, in the special meeting there was discussion about why Tanner Dodge Chrysler Jeep in Stanton was not consulted. The council voted to open the bid process.

However, after being advised by Caudill that the dealership in Lexington had ordered the car and that the deal in Lexington included items that may be extra elsewhere, the council voted to rescind the bid process vote and stay with the original vote. Caudill advised that he had been consulted by Graham and the city was within what state law allows them to do.

According to the discussion the state contract included labor, lights, striping and switching out the computer modem at a cost of $6,802.03 added to the car price of roughly $24,000. The other deal would have cost an additional $6,000 along with the car price, but did not include labor or striping.

The vote was unanimous.

During an interview at the Stanton Police Department after the accident Moore allegedly told state police detectives that he got off work at 3:30 p.m. that day and went to Peoples Exchange Bank on Mount Sterling to cash his check. From there he allegedly stated he went to a liquor store and bought a pint of whiskey. He then said he went to asleep and was awakened by someone asking him to take them home. "He said that they said 'Need a ride cuz' so he said he thought it was his cousin," Kentucky State Police Master Trooper Joe Veeneman stated in district court during a preliminary hearing. "He then said the next thing he remembers is dealing with us."

Veeneman testified that when Powell Deputy Billy Rice checked Moore the keys to the truck were found in his pocket. He also testified that the damage to the passenger door and the impact caused the window to break. However, Moore's only injury was a cut on his right hand.

The defense is waiting on DNA evidence to allegedly see if anyone else may have been driving. However, state police believe that Moore was alone in the truck.

According to state police Moore's blood test results, from samples taken at the scene within a two hour time frame, was .140. One report from that evening indicated that Moore blew a .157 on a breathalyzer.

Whisman also advised the court that there was key on Moore's key chain that is being held for evidence that his wife needs. "It has nothing to do with this case and we are asking for an order to release that key from the state police," Whisman asked. Powell Circuit Judge Frank Fletcher indicated he would grant that request.

Moore will be back in court on Dec. 4 for a case review.

Meet James Finney, Stanton Nursing and Rehabilitation's most recent Success. James came to Stanton Nursing Center for inpatient rehabilitation services after being hospitalized from a traumatic car accident in August, 2013. Mr. Finney was in ICU for three weeks at University of Kentucky Hospital where he was treated for multiple fractures including fractured vertebrae, pelvis and several internal injuries. When Mr. Finney arrived for rehab services he was unable to walk due to being non-weight bearing and could not complete any of his normal daily care activities. However, with the help of the rehabilitation department and Mr. Finney's motivation he is now walking 200 ft with a walker, and doing many of his daily self care tasks. Mr. Finney was very involved in church prior to his accident and has been attending his church now that he is able to transfer in and out of the car. Mr. Finney has strong family support from his wife Virgie, several children, step children and many grandchildren. Congratulations James on your accomplishments and thank you for allowing us to help bridge your health care needs from hospital to home.

Powell County Lions Club Memorial Walk remembers those who have given so much

On Saturday, Oct. 26, 2013 in solemn recognition of the services and dedication displayed by the original 29 charter deceased members of the Powell County Lions Club and the 41 other deceased members the Powell County Lions Club conducted the “Walk To Remember”. The 13 person group traveled the original Natural Bridge State Park Trail that guests of the park have been using for 100 years to the summit of Natural Bridge. The names of the original 29 deceased charter members were read by Lion Cebert Gilbert, the 41 other deceased members were read by Lion President Phil Lambert, and the closing prayer was offered by Lion Secretary Hondo Hearne.

Retired Teachers honor one of their own's memory

The Powell County Retired Teachers met Friday, Oct. 11 at Natural Bridge State Park. The meeting was called to order by president, Karen Gilbert. Darryl Abner led in the pledge to the flag. Cebert Gilbert led in prayer. We had a moment of silent prayer in memory of Fern Brewer. Following lunch and a time of fellowship we had a guest speaker, Camille Burgess. She presented a very informative presentation concerning Health Care Coverage. Its main concern was for teachers turning 65 and the health care plan which is most suitable for each one. There followed a question and answer discussion. Members attending were: Esther Kearns, Dee Robbins, Janice Trent, Mary Back, Nellie Anderson, Taffie Bellamy, Virginia Carpenter, Billy Rose, Dee Cooper, Lorna Baker, Faye and Matt Benningfield, Marie Fain, Cheryl Goodwin, Kaye Epperson, Janet Foster, Mary Lou Potts, Betty Craft, Rhonda Muse, Karen Shepherd, Darryl and Linda Abner, Danny Crabtree, Ovie Hollon, Stephanie and Rick Hall, Pat Curtis, Bertha Hurst, Janice Pelfrey, Margarita Arnett, Sandy Hall, Roslyn Lacy, Bea Snowden, Virginia Todd, Sherri Whisman, Karen and Cebert Gilbert, Evelyn Neely and Jean Derickson. Guests were: Forest Trent, Josie Anderson, Jerlene Rose, Wayne Muse, James Ed Dennis, Josie Hollon, and Chris Leonard, a retired teacher from California. Our next meeting will be Nov. 8 at Natural Bridge and the speaker will be Carolyn Fallen, president of Kentucky Retired Teachers. Please bring a canned food or non-perishable item or money for the Powell County Food Bank.

Happy 50th Anniversary: A Love Story

Once upon a time in a small community known as Leeco, Ky, there lived the Rogers family and the Shortridge family. The oldest son, Lanny, from the Rogers family and the oldest daughter, Linda, from the Shortridge family grew up together as neighbors and friends. During high school they played in the high school band together, Linda as a drummer and Lanny as the band leader. It was during their senior year of high school they realized their feelings for each other had grown into more than just friends and on Nov. 1, 1963 they went to Jellico, TN and got married. Over the next 50 years they raised four children and welcomed eight grandchildren into the world. Their marriage saw many ups and downs but thru it all they remained together and their love grew stronger and stronger. On Saturday, Nov. 2, 2013 the children and grandchildren of Lanny and Linda Rogers would like to invite all friends and family to attend a celebration of their 50 year marriage that is still going strong today. They will celebrate this wonderful occasion by having the wedding they never had and renewing their vows of love to each other. The wedding/celebration will take place at the Stanton First Church of God on Hwy 15 at 4 p.m. this Saturday and a reception will follow. Again all friends and family are invited to join the celebration.

Guest column:

We have to limit our debt before we can raise debt limit

By CONGRESSMAN
ANDY BARR
Guest Columnist

I ran for Congress to stop the Washington spending spree and put our nation's fiscal house in order. Unfortunately, I could not support the legislation that raised the debt limit because it did not accomplish what the people of the Sixth Congressional District elected me to do: reform government, reduce spending and hold Washington accountable to the American people.

Let me be clear: I opposed the government shutdown and remain committed to avoiding a default on our debt. In fact, I voted 26 times to fund the government or otherwise prevent a shutdown. I have also voted to raise the debt ceiling with my vote for the No Budget No Pay Act, which forced Members of Congress to do their job and pass a budget.

But it is unfair to my two daughters and to future generations of Americans to simply raise the debt ceiling yet again without reforming government or getting spending under control.

The President says we need to pay our bills. I agree. But raising our debt limit without any reform is not paying our bills. It is asking China, our bondholders and other creditors to pay our bills for us.

The President says we need to avert a default. I agree. But raising our debt limit without any reform is not averting default. It is merely postponing default.

Instead of simply opening up a new credit card in our children's name because we've maxed out all of our own, we must take responsibility and stop business as usual in Washington. We owe it to our children and grandchildren to end the spending spree and start making the tough choices that will finally force the government to live within its means.

At current spending levels, the government is adding approximately $20 billion every week in new debt. On top of that, regardless of whether you agree with the policy itself, Obamacare is a massive increase in federal spending.

According to the Congressional Budget Office, Obamacare will cost American taxpayers $48 billion in 2014 and nearly $2 trillion over the next decade. And the true cost of Obamacare will only continue to grow because its funding mechanisms — cuts to Medicare, reductions in payments to our rural hospitals, punitive taxes on medical innovation and other sources of revenue — are not sustainable and will be repealed.

So to suggest that Congress should leave Obamacare out of discussions about how to fund the government is both highly cynical and wholly inconsistent with Congress's constitutional responsibility to constantly scrutinize federal spending.

It is also disappointing that the legislation to raise the debt limit and end the shutdown didn't include the very basic reform I have been fighting for which would simply force the political elite in Washington to live by the laws they write.

Whether the Herald-Leader admits it or not, Obamacare provides special treatment to Members of Congress and those who wrote this flawed law. Thanks to regulations written by the Obama Administration, Members of Congress and their staff will continue to receive the same 72-75 percent subsidy they now receive under the federal employees health benefit plan for the purchase of a health insurance policy on the exchange.

However, while Members of Congress who make $174,000 a year receive these pre-tax employer-contribution subsidies, a single individual who earns roughly over $47,000 will receive NO assistance towards the purchase of a health-care policy and be forced to pay the full price on the exchange with their after-tax dollars.

I believe it is a matter of fairness that Members of Congress, the President, members of the Cabinet and their staff should live under the law they wrote and be treated the same as every other American.

My constituents are understandably angry about the political conflict in Washington. But we will never get beyond this frustrating gridlock unless and until Congress and the President can come together in a bipartisan way and finally confront in earnest the enormous challenge in front of us and save the next generation from national bankruptcy.

The only way we will lessen the likelihood of future crises over the budget is through a real commitment to reforms that will force the government to live within its means. Although the latest agreement to raise the debt limit failed to accomplish that objective, I remain hopeful that the President will come to the negotiating table and I continue to stand ready to work with him to get our country on a path toward fiscal responsibility.

I'm just saying: Time is fleeting, but friendships can last forever

JAMES COOK
Times Editor

I know it has been a while since I have written a column. It has been quite hectic and I wanted to give some other opinions a chance to be expressed.

However, after a few calls, a few "Hey, can I talk to you's" in the stores and a few questions about whether or not I was still employed here, I figured I had better write something. But instead of a silly look at recent happenings, like that awesome opening of the Obamacare Health Care website or the parties bickering like children in the school yard about who was tagged in freeze tag, I decided to write about something different.

In recent weeks there have been people who I have known for years, pass away. I considered them friends. They came along in a time in my life when I needed their friendship and that has lasted all of these years.

Bill Mize was one of a kind. He was like a father figure, giving advice and listening to problems not only of his own children, but for me as well. When my daughter was born, it was him and his wife, Darnell, who sort of took my wife under their wings and welcomed my daughter like she was a grandchild of theirs.

There was not a time I can think of when Bill didn't ask about my daughter and wife, whenever he saw me. That may be at Kroger, where he would sneak up on us, or at the flea market or at a yard sale. He loved to go to yard sales and the flea market. He would tell me about the great bargains he would find. He looked at things like what others wanted to get of differently. He took those items and made them into something for somebody, if he didn't store it up for a while.

That was they way he made me feel at a time when I was unsure if I was of any value. A new wife, new baby, low paying job and entering a chapter in adulthood I was very unsure of. But Bill, and Darnell, seemed to be the right people at the right time to step in and offer that advice we needed.

Bill worked for us at the Times for a short while, before he was diagnosed with his illness. I knew he could do a good job and he did. He hated to leave and I hated to see him go. Like many others in our lives, we didn't see each other a lot, as we went about our daily business. But there has always been and will always be a certain respect I hold for him. We will miss him.

Then just last week I got word late Thursday that an umpiring mentor and friend of over 30 years, Jimmy Chadwick, had suffered a stroke. I was not able to get to UK on Friday but I received word again that day that Jimmy had passed away. I was at a loss for words.

I met Jimmy as he umpired games when I played high school baseball. Later he ended up becoming a friend and we umpired many, many games together over the years. When we wasn't doing that we would hang out at the radio station or even broadcast some games together.

Back then we thought

Faith Hill wasn't bad as a singer, but man she was cute.

You could not hang out with Jimmy and be depressed. He always had a funny story or a joke to tell. No game I ever umpired with him was boring and in fact I learned a lot from him. Don't get me started on the radio broadcasts. If it wasn't for him, back in those days, his friendship kept me out of trouble I was heading for and into more productive things.

Jimmy helped me at a low point in my life to not take life too seriously, laugh a little, even if its at myself.

Over the past 10 years or so we didn't see each other as much. He got into professional wrestling and loved it. He spent time with his youngest son and when I did see him he would talk about his love for his boy. sadly, the last few times I got to see him we were passing each other in the hallways at St. Joseph Mount Sterling on those occasions we both had tests to be run.

Earlier this year we sat together at a basketball game and just talked about sports and families. Of course, we spent a lot of time joking and having fun, laughing at the officials and some of the plays on the floor. It was like old times.

Now that he's gone, there be no more "balk" calls coming from out of the blue at Kroger, or elbow strikes to the head as he snuck up on me just about anywhere. I will miss my friend, a lot.

Take some time today, tomorrow, anytime, to reach out to an old friend and just let them know that they mean something to you. One day you won't be able to and you'll wish you could. I do now.

I'm just saying ...

CHFS offers food safety tips to keep your Halloween safe

Halloween is an especially enjoyable time of year for children as they attend Halloween parties and go trick-or-treating in their costumes. Some candy treats and snack foods can, however, quickly spoil the fun.

The Kentucky Department for Public Health offers the following food safety tips to help you have a safe Halloween:

Take these steps to ensure a fun and safe Halloween:

- Avoid having children snack while they're out trick-or-treating so that you may have a chance to inspect the contents of their treat bag. Give children a light meal or snack before they go out trick-or-treating to help prevent them from snacking.
- Inspect commercially wrapped treats for signs of tampering, such as unusual appearance, discoloration, tiny pinholes or tears in wrappers. Throw away anything that looks suspicious.

- Discard fruit and homemade treats unless you personally know their source and make sure that all fresh fruit is washed prior to eating. When in doubt, throw it out. Parents of very young children should also remove any choking hazards such as gum, peanuts, hard candies or small toys.

Follow these tips for Halloween parties at home:

- If juice or cider is served to children at parties, make sure the juice is pasteurized or otherwise treated to destroy harmful bacteria. Juice or cider that has not been treated will state this on the label.
- Don't taste raw cookie dough or cake batter.
- Before going bobbing for apples, reduce the number of bacteria that might be present on apples and other raw fruits and vegetables by thoroughly rinsing them under cool running water. As an added precaution, use a produce brush to remove surface dirt.

- Keep all perishable foods chilled until serving time, including cut melons, finger sandwiches, cheese platters, tossed salads, cold pasta dishes with meat, poultry or seafood and cream pies or cakes with whipped cream and cream cheese frostings. Don't leave these foods out at room temperature for more than two hours.

Remind children to wash their hands before eating to prevent foodborne illness.

- Remember some children have food allergies, so make sure that treats with peanuts or other nuts are clearly identified.

The Cabinet for Health and Family Services Food Safety Branch wishes all Kentuckians a happy and healthy Halloween. If you have any questions or concerns about food safety, please contact the Kentucky Food Safety Branch at (502) 564-7181.

PCHS Student of the Week

Brook Billings

Brook Billings is this week's PTO Student of the Week at Powell County High School. She is the daughter of Brian and Carmen Billings of Stanton.

Brook is a junior and the class treasurer, the vice-president of KYA, the reporter for FBIA, and a member of the Pep Club. She enjoys going to home football games and being involved in clubs. In her free time, she plays the guitar and sings.

Brook's favorite classes are Stacy Linn's Algebra class because "there is always a challenge", and Jennifer Billings art class because "she always pushed me to fulfill my potential." She was nominated for PTO Student of the Week by Mrs. Billings.

In the future, Brook plans to attend Georgetown College for her bachelor's degree before going to dentistry school.

Student of the Week is a program sponsored by the PTO and recognizes students who are role models in the areas of study, effort, cooperation, and attitude. Other students nominated this week include Jim Baker, Kory Freeman, Zach Knox, Jordan Rice, Destiny Strange, and Christian Watkins.

Thank you

The family of Hazel Lynn Brandenburg would like to thank everyone for their prayers, encouraging words and thoughts while Hazel was in Lexington Childrens Hospital and Cincinnati Childrens Hospital. Thanks to all doctors and nurses for taking good care of Hazel in her time of need. We also would like to thank everyone for prayers, food, flowers, cards and donations during the loss of Hazel.

Special thanks to Mike Allen for a wonderful service, for singers that done a great job, for Hazel's 5th grade teacher for sharing wonderful memories of Hazel with all of us. Thanks to the pallbearers and to Grayson Funeral Home for their kindness.

We truely appreciate each and everyone of you.

May God Bless you all.

The family of Hazel L. Brandenburg

To everyone who has supported us following the death of our beloved mother and grandmother, Edith Patton, we would like to express our sincere thanks and appreciation. Your many acts of kindness and sympathy continue to be a great comfort to us in our time of sorrow.

Community Summitt to envision Powell County's future planned for Saturday

All Powell County citizens are invited to attend the Powell County Community Summit & Volunteer Fair on Saturday, Nov. 2 at the Powell County High School Cafeteria from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Summit will be facilitated by Dr. Lori Garkovich, Community and Leadership Development expert, of the University of Kentucky. Organizers of the summit, a group called Transition Powell County, are asking citizens, leaders, organizations, businesses, students, and churches to come together for this event to strategically plan for Powell County's future.

The summit is made possible by a grant from the Appalachian Rural Development Philanthropy Initiative, The Powell County Fiscal Court, and The UK Extension Cooperative of Powell County.

Organizers of the summit want feedback from people who live and work in the county for their ideas of how to make the community a better place to live and work. There are grants and other funding sources available for community development projects for the county. Having an overall vision for where the community wants to be in thirty to fifty years will go a long way in helping determine the best projects for action committees to work on in order to achieve that vision. Some of the areas summit organizers hope to address by utilizing action committees include food security, transportation, energy, housing, and waste.

One plan is in the works to help see that needed projects have funding called Strengthening Community Philanthropy. Project Coordinator, Janice Odom and others are seeking an interim board of directors to decide whether to affiliate with or start a new community foundation to benefit and better Powell County. Anyone interested in philanthropy in Powell County should attend the summit or contact Janice Odom at 606-481-9431.

Community organizations are encouraged to reserve a free table for the Volunteer Fair to solicit new members, provide brochures and information about their organizations. This is a great opportunity for would-be volunteers to shop around and find where they want to invest their time and talent.

For more information about the event, to RSVP, or to reserve a table for the Volunteer Fair, please call Angela at 606-481-4861 or Janice at 606-481-9431.

For more information about Transition Powell County, visit their site on the web at <http://transitionpowellcounty.blogspot.com/> or join their group on Facebook called Transition Powell County for meeting times and info on future events.

Super foods for Fall

Fresh produce always taste best in season – and it's cheaper. So be sure to try these nutritional superstars for the fall.

Greens like collards and kale grow in summer and fall, but colder weather makes them tastier. They're high in antioxidant vitamins A and C and other nutrients that promote healthy vision and may lower cancer risk. Simmer, steam, or sauté chopped greens, or add them to soups or stews.

Sweet Potatoes, harvested in fall, are one of the most nutritious vegetables around. High in the antioxidant vitamins A and C, sweet potatoes may help to boost your immune system. Store them at room temperature for use within a week, or up to a month in a cool, dry place between 55 and 60 degrees.

Pomegranates debut in September and bow out by the end of December-but keep them in the fridge for up to two months. Eat the seeds or press them for juice. These tart jewels contain lycopene and other heart-healthy antioxidants. Cut the top off, score the outside lengthwise, and place in a bowl of water. Separate the scored sections, remove seeds underwater, and strain. The seeds can be packed in an airtight container and frozen for up to three months.

Brussels sprouts are available all year, but peak in flavor during fall and winter. Steam, boil, or microwave sprouts after you've cut off yellow or wilted leaves, trimmed the stems, and carved a shallow X in the bases to improve heat penetration. Brussels sprouts are cruciferous vegetables, high in vitamin C and cancer-fighting antioxidants.

Cranberry Beans are available fresh in to pod every fall. These speckled beans have a creamy texture that resembles chestnuts. They're packed with protein and are also high in calcium and potassium.

ENCOURAGING WORD: ONE CAN ACCOMPLISH MUCH

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

One morning I received an email that, at first, I thought was spam. My first reaction was to delete it, but I read it. The simple message was very good: “One person CAN make a difference.” About the same time, there was a story in the news media that highlighted that message. In Shelbyville, the school year was coming to an end and the commencement program for the high school was being planned in accordance with a tradition that spanned many years. One student, a Muslim, was in the graduating class and that student objected to a part of the program and did not hesitate to let that objection be known. As a result and with a disregard for the desires of other students in the class who apparently remained silent, changes were made in the commencement program to suit the desires of that one student. By standing up, one student in a large class of students made a significant difference and a tradition of many years was cast aside. Almost everyday situations are faced in which things are not as desired. Those things need to be changed and they can be changed. All that is necessary for the change to be made is for one person or group of persons to stand up, assert themselves and demand that the necessary change be made. A long time ago Edmund Burke, an English statesman of the 18th century, in a powerful statement, put human responsibility in proper perspective: “The only thing that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men should do nothing.” The silent majority seldom accomplishes anything; it usually acquiesces to the vocal minority. As a result, that minority usually accomplishes its purpose. One person, devoted to a good cause and standing firm upon principles that are right, can accomplish much. But a group of persons, united in a purpose and standing upon those same principles, can accomplish more.

Tax Rates Levied For School Year 2013 - 2014

School District - Powell County # 495
Contact Name - Doris Mullins
Contact Number - (606)663-3300

To the Kentucky Board of Education, Frankfort, KY:

In Compliance with Kentucky Revised Statutes and the regulations of the Kentucky Board of Education, we, the board of education of the above named school district, hereby submit for your approval the following tax rates levied on 08/22/2013.

For rates that exceeded compensating and HB 940 tax rates, the notice and hearing requirements of KRS 160.470(7)(b) "...published at least twice for two (2) consecutive weeks, in the newspaper of largest circulation in the county..."the public hearing which shall be held not less than seven (7) days nor more than ten (10) days after the day that the second advertisement is published;" have been met.

An advertisement was placed in the Clay City Times newspaper on 08/08/2013 (date of first advertisement) and 08/15/2013 (date of second advertisement).

The public hearing was held on 08/22/2013.

For rates subject to recall,an additional advertisement was made on within 7 days of the hearing as required by KRS 160.470(8). Once the forty-five (45) days have passed since the rate was levied, we will send notification of whether a valid petition was presented. If a valid petition was presented, we will indicate whether we intend to place the issue before the voters for approval.

If advertisement was required, the rates levied do not exceed the proposed rates advertised.

Rate Levied (Please circle type) Compensating Sub(1) 4% House Bill 940 Other

Lady Pirates capture 8th straight district championship

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Eight is great. Just ask the Powell County Lady Pirates volleyball team. They rolled to their eighth straight 56th District Tournament Championship last week at Lee County. Now they return home to host the 14th Regional Tournament.

The Lady Pirates opened their quest for number eight last Monday night by playing the host team, Lee County. In the first set Lady Pirates broke Lee's serve and jumped out to a 7-0 lead. Powell missed their next serve, but managed to take a 13-2 lead midway through the first rotation. Another seven unanswered points put the Lady Pirates up 20-4, and five more ended the first set by the end of the first rotation. Powell won, 25-6.

The next set saw Powell make the most of getting the first serve, going up 6-0 with Chelsea Haddix serving. Another six point run with Haleigh Ritchie serving gave the Lady Pirates a 12-1 advantage. A nine point run with Beth Banks serving put the game out of reach at 19-2. Triston Curtis finished up with a five point run to end the set, 25-3.

The final set was when Powell got out to an early lead of 10-4 with Stephanie Knox serving, and 15-6 on Taylor Everman's serving. The Lady Kats scored three unanswered points later to make the score 19-11, but the Lady Pirates defense settled down and got the win, 23-15.

On Tuesday Powell

took to the court for the championship game against Owsley County.

In the first set the Lady Pirates went up 10-3 with four straight scores as Ritchie served. Powell's advantage stayed at six or seven points for the rest of the set as the two teams battled on even terms. The Lady Pirates took the set, 25-18.

The second set witnessed Powell run off 13 straight points, again with Ritchie serving, to go up 17-3. The Lady Owls never got on track and the Lady Pirates came away with the win, 25-9. The final frame saw Powell go ahead 21-11, but Owsley rallied with a run of six straight points to cut the margin to 21-17.

The two teams traded points before Knox finished it off for Powell with three straight scores, 25-18.

"I thought we played extremely well at times, and came through under pressure," Powell Coach Ken Jones said. "The Lady Pirates had won seven straight district championships going in, and this team didn't want to be the one to break that streak. Now if we can carry that momentum into the regional tournament, we've got a shot at our first regional title."

Powell was scheduled to play Leslie County in the opening round of the regional tournament this past Monday. They enter the tournament ranked second behind a pesky Hazard team that has beaten them a couple of times this season.

Pirates clinch winning season, playoff spot; top WH 48-33

By GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County Pirates had put themselves in a position to make the state playoffs. All the Pirates needed to do was win at Western Hills and they would qualify.

Powell went about that task last Friday night in Frankfort against a tough Western Hills team. The Pirates faced the Wolverines on easily the coldest night of the season before a large senior night crowd. Western Hills kicked off to start the game.

Powell's offense led by Matt Brooks took the field. The Pirates lost yardage on the first two plays but on third down Brooks hit Brett Goodwin for a 60 yard touchdown pass to start the scoring. Powell led 6 - 0 with only 49 seconds gone off the clock.

Western Hills fumbled the kickoff and Chance Snowden recovered for the Pirates. Brooks hit Goodwin for a 44 yard touchdown and Powell led 12 - 0. Western Hills moved the ball on the Pirates and scored a long touchdown.

After both teams lost the ball on their next two possessions, Powell scored again on a 13 yard run by Snowden. The Pirates lead was 18 - 7 after one quarter. Western Hills scored first in the second quarter on a 44 yard fumble recovery on a pass attempt by the Pirates.

Powell scored on their last possession of the half. Isaac Harrison punched the ball into the end zone on a 2 yard run to extend the Pirate lead. Snowden ran for the two point conversion and Powell led 26 - 14 at halftime.

The third quarter was a defensive battle as both teams failed to score until Western Hills got a touchdown with 2:41 to go in the quarter. Powell's lead was cut to 26 - 20 after three quarters.

The fourth quarter saw the scoreboard light up with points as both teams offenses heated up. Western Hills scored just one minute into the quarter on a long run and the extra point kick gave the Wolverines the lead at 27 - 26. That lead was short lived as Powell took only nine seconds to score on a kickoff return. Zack Spencer fielded the kick on one bounce and went straight through the coverage for a 60 yard touchdown run. Snowden added a two point conversion on a run and Powell regained the lead 34 - 27.

The Powell defense held and Western Hills punted. The Pirates held the ball and moved down the field. Snowden again ran for a touchdown, this time from 13 yards out, Jake Whitt added the extra point and Powell led 41 - 27 with only 2:33 left to play.

Western Hills scored using exactly one minute off the clock to cut into the Pirate lead. But Powell answered with another touchdown. Brooks fooled everyone on a bootleg run for a 53 yard touchdown. Powell added the extra point by Whitt to end the scoring. The Pirates qualified for the playoffs with a hard fought 48 - 33 victory on the road.

Powell's record now stands at 6 - 3 on the season and 2 - 3 in district play. The six wins for the Pirates ties the school record for wins in the regular season. The Pirates have a chance to pickup their seventh victory of the regular season on the road, this Friday night at Morgan County.

In two weeks, the State Playoffs begin with Powell going on the road to face unbeaten Mason County. Good luck Pirates.

First frost of the season causes concerns farmers

MIKE REED
County Ag. Agent

Last Thursday and Friday marked our first real freezes of the fall. Temperatures reached 26 degrees or below in some areas of the county. When our hay fields and pastures have spotty areas of johnsongrass, I usually get a few calls from farmers who are anxious about having animals on these fields.

Prussic acid poisoning can occur any time during the growing season, but we really have to think about it just after the first killing frost. Many of our bottom hay and pasture fields have lots of johnsongrass in them. This weed is well liked by cattle, but can kill them just after a frost. All sorghum type plants contain cyanide type toxins in their cells. When these cells are ruptured by frost, they are converted into prussic acid. Prussic acid poisoning is also found in wilted wild cherry leaves which we worry about in the summer, after a wind or thunderstorm. All cattle producers should take steps to get rid of all wild cherry trees in their cattle pastures, because of this potential problem.

the most potent toxins in nature. As ruminants consume plants containing cyanide-producing compounds, prussic acid is released in the rumen of the animal absorbed into the bloodstream and carried into body tissues where it interferes with oxygen utilization. If the toxins are absorbed in large quantities all at one time, the animal dies of respiratory paralysis. When lethal amounts are consumed, you usually find a dead animal out in the field. If just a small amount of toxin is consumed the cow may just have labored breathing, then re-couperate after a while. Cattle may stagger and froth at the mouth.

After the first freeze is over, you have to worry about prussic acid for about two weeks. Once all plant material is dry, it is safe to eat. Johnsongrass that is properly cut and baled, will not contain prussic acid. All these toxins have dried out in the plant. If johnsongrass is in your fields, do not graze any time that frost is expected. After this first killing frost, keep all cattle out of these fields for at least two weeks.

Last Friday's grain prices for Central Bluegrass area include:

Corn-$3.95-$4.02/bu.; Soybeans-$12.55-$12.96/bu.

Happy Halloween!

Halloween will be observed in Powell County this Thursday, Oct. 31 from 6 to 8 p.m. Many of our county's kids will be walking around the track at the Community Trick-or-Treat event at the Powell County High School track that night, but many I am sure, will still be found visiting their neighbor's homes that evening. My kids were past the age of trick or treating when the community event started, so we always trick or treated the old fashioned way, visiting our neighbors and family members. We would escort them up and down the creek that night to let them see how the girls had grown and how pretty (or ugly), they were with their home made costumes. I remember then visiting their granny and papaw, our special neighbors like Zel and Jr. Bush and Opal and Charlie Shouse, Johnny and Ruby Morton, most all of whom have passed on now. Homemade candy, popcorn balls and rice krispie bars were always their treats, and there was always an extra one for mom and dad. The girls always came home with big bags of candy. I remember their mad rush to get home and throw all their candy out on the floor and start eating like they had never seen a candy bar! They experienced sugar rushes for several days afterward.

I had more fun on Halloween than the kids had. I have always enjoyed Halloween and always resented anyone who made it a "bad thing" by attacking little children or giving them pins and razors in their candy. Halloween is definitely different than it was when I was a kid, or even when my kids were little. Our world has changed so much in past thirty years. Unfortunately the changes aren't always positive. Some body keeps taking out all the fun of growing up.

Kentucky Beef Conference

"Today's Challenges, Tomorrow's Opportunities", is the theme for this year's Kentucky Beef Conference to be held this Thursday, Oct. 31. This meeting is a state wide, educational event that will be of interest to beef cattle producers and will be held in Lexington, Kentucky at the Fayette county Extension Office. The conference begins at 10 a.m. with registration starting around 9 a.m.

Such topics as the following will be covered during the day event: Marketing Overview;

Weed control in Pastures, Marketing Feeder Cattle and Marketing strategies for 2014. All area beef cattle producers are encouraged to attend. Contact your local UK Extension Office for more details.

Home For the Holidays

I personally can't believe that it is only 67 days until Christmas. With that in mind, the Powell County Extension Office invites you to this year's Holiday workshop, next week, Thursday, Nov. 7. I will be presenting information and displaying home made arrangements wreaths and centerpieces using live greenery and plant material found around the home and farm. There will be door prizes awarded and free sampling of recipes prepared by Pam Dooley, Powell County FCS agent.

This program will begin at 6 p.m. and will be held at the Powell County Extension Office at 169 Maple Street. Everyone interested in preparing and planning for the holidays are invited to attend.

There will be a registration fee of $8 per person. To register for this workshop simply call the Powell County Extension Office at 663-6405 by Wednesday, Nov. 6 to let us know you're coming!

Police end standoff peacefully

Powell County Deputies and Stanton Police responded to a call of a Stanton man threatening to kill the very people he was staying with and even making suicidal comments. When they arrived it became a tense standoff as he subject making threats began to threaten them.

Powell County Deputies Billy Rice and Marty Tipton, along with Stanton Police Lt. Arthur Lacy arrived at the residence on Hatton Creek School Road to find Larry J. Hall waiting for them with a knife in his hand.

"I was trying to let Powell County (Dispatch) let me know I had arrived and he (Hall) came running out with a knife in his hand," Rice said. "I dropped the radio mike and drew my weapon." So did Tipton and Lacy.

Officers told Hall to drop the knife, but he refused. He made statements that he wanted police to kill him. After a few minutes of officers trying to get Hall to drop the knife, he ran back into the house.

"We didn't know if he had a rifle in there or not, so we took cover," Rice said.

Hall barricaded himself inside for a short time before he came back outside, once again with a knife in his hand. This time he did throw the knife down and was told to get on the ground. But he refused and began cursing officers. Rice fired his taser at Hall, but that was not successful.

Hall tried to get back in the house, but Rice and Tipton stopped him and tried to wrestle him to the ground. Hall got an arm loose and struck Rice twice in the head, according to the arrest report. Lacy then tazed Hall and the situation was over.

Hall was charged with first degree wanton endangerment of a police officer, third degree assault of a police officer, third degree terroristic threatening, resisting arrest and menacing. The police reports stated that Hall may have been treated at eastern State Hospital in the past. He was lodged at the Powell County Detention Center.

ry, or physical pain." Richardson faces a second count of exploitation of an adult. Police say that Richardson took charge of her victim's money and assistance checks and used that money but not for the victim. She also faces three counts of first degree wanton endangerment.

Richardson has been accused on beating her victim, Mary Rose Swift, and forcing her to eat dog food. Officers say Swift, who reportedly weighed over 200 pounds last year, was down to 94 pounds when she was found in a home with no heat or food.

Police say she went on the run for nearly two weeks before turning herself in, with a Lexington television crew in tow, on Feb. 18.

Richardson has also been charged with trafficking in a controlled substance. The charge stems from allegations of events that occurred before her most recent court battle. According to Powell County Sheriff's Department Chief Deputy Robert "Rog" Mathews, at least one witness has told police and evidence allegedly shows that Richardson had been trafficking in medications possibly from an out-of-state pain clinic.

"I've got a statement from the alleged victim, in her own words, stating I did not make her eat dog food. The media reported this and I wanted to show you because I know you are fair," Richardson told Fletcher as she showed him a paper she pulled from a red folder she was carrying.

Fletcher advised her to have a "heart to heart talk" with her new attorney. "Listen to her and I mean listen to her," Fletcher said. "You can talk too, but let what she tells you sink in and listen."

Richardson's case was sent to mediation two months ago, but no deal was made. Her trial on the abuse case was set for last month, but was rescheduled for Jan. 27.

Richardson asked for a bond reduction. She had been released before and placed on GPS monitoring, but that was before the second charge was issued. Richardson asked Fletcher why she could not get a bond reduction and he advised that she was "a danger to others." But he said he would review the issue again. Her bond is currently $50,000 cash.

Clay City woman's UK tickets stolen

Some UK fans cannot wait until the basketball season begins. In fact they usually have season tickets and look forward to the seeing the Cats in Rupp Arena. Renee Kirby and her family are those kinds of fans. But they did not receive their season tickets for this year. That was because state police say a neighbor stole them from their mailbox and tried to sell them.

Last Wednesday Kentucky State Police received a complaint of a suspicious person at the Frosty Freeze Restaurant in Midland, a small community located in Bath County. So Trooper Nathan Shortridge responded to the restaurant found that Jackie M. Baty, 23, of Clay City, was attempting to sell a set of 2013 University of Kentucky Wildcat basketball tickets.

Police discovered that the tickets belonged to Baty's neighbor, Donna Renee Kirby, also of Clay City. All of the tickets were in the ticket book with the exception of the first game. Baty was charged with Receiving Stolen Property under $10,000 and was lodged in the Montgomery County Detention Center.

Kirby has been advised that UK will send her a new set of season tickets.
